

Independent Study Activities – A Level Film

In film the students have something called a Creative Influences journal, for which they will be given assignments for. Students are also encouraged to create their own entries. This journal is in addition to their normal homework, and is ever evolving. Mr Caudle will give personalised guidance throughout the year regarding entries that should be made in the journal. Students will also be given a list of video tutorials to watch and make notes on during the first half term (see below).

September 6th- October 29th

Watch and make notes on the following videos. All notes should be dated and summarised with at least three things you've learned from each tutorial.
